

PROFLIGATE PROPOSITIONS
OF THE
FRENCH DIRECTORY
TO THE
American Ambassadors
AT PARIS.

THIS interesting and very important STATE PAPER, is now published, and handsomely printed, complete, Price only SIX-PENCE, so that it may come within the Purchase of every Individual, and may be sent by the Post to any part of the Kingdom.

PUBLISHED BY J. BELL, British Library, No. 90, STRAND,
And may be had at all the Pamphlet Shops, and of the Newsmen.

To the publication of this PAPER in America, is subjoined the following APOSTROPHE, which may be addressed, with equal propriety to every ENGLISHMAN:

“ If you are an American, never lose, nor for a moment mislay this Paper---meditate on it through the labours of the day, and let it be the first thing that revisits your mind when you awake from your nightly slumbers. Guard it as you would the apple of your eye---preserve it amongst the hallowed gifts of your parents; and, when you die, leave it as the first, most valuable, and most precious legacy to your children. So shall they learn to shun the blindness of their fathers; so shall they distinguish their friends from their foes; so shall The name of FRENCHMEN become a by-word, a reproach, and a curse among them, from generation to generation!!!”

* * This Paper is a necessary Compendium to BELL's WEEKLY MESSENGER, of this Day.
